

FREEMANS PRAYER

By Alice D Pittman

My body is weary, my spirit is weak,
Release from these soul draining days is what I seek.
But my God is still with me. I know this for sure.
If it's his will that I stay here then I will endure.

My family will welcome very hour I have spent with them.
They will miss me deeply and speak of me fondly.
They will hold each other closely and shed many a tear.
But if the Lord wills it, I WILL NOT BE HERE.

I will sit by my Saviors side resting in my mother's arms
As secure and as pain free as the day I was born
Though you miss me don't worry

Please just know that I'm happy, I am healthy, able to jump and stomp my feet and joyously wave my arms.
My heavenly father heard my plea, as I cried out in my misery.
He brought me here to dwell with him on high.

Praise the Lord, Hallelujah, I'm home!

Reflections

Freeman will be missed and remembered for his big smile, loud laugh, humor, excellent grilling especially those fabulous ribs. Freeman loved watching The Count of Monte Cristo with his Grandsons Amani and Gavyn on nearly every visit.

The 507 Logistic Support Squadron Alice Richardson LCT USAF Retired wrote: I want you to know Pitt was one of the most kind and genuine people I met on my 25-year military journey. My heart is truly saddened by this news. My prayer is that you will hold tightly the best memories you have of spending a part of your life with him. I'm sure it will include his huge smile, and it will make you smile too. Blessings.

Bacy Tabor USAF AFMC AFLCMC/WBFLA wrote: Freeman always had a huge smile and was so kind to everyone he crossed paths with cheering up those that needed or just being there as a friend.

Antonio Tarkington wrote: I had the pleasure of working with Freeman at Tinker. Freeman gave hope when coming to work and he was always positive, encouraging, and hilarious, and he showed strength through his trials in the flesh and now the spirit of a great man lives on.
