In Loving Memory

Roxie Delillian Youngblood (Lillie, Lil) was born to Charles Walter Youngblood and Martha Evangelist West-Youngblood on September 27, 1963. As a young girl she loved to play basketball, roller skate, swing, play with her dolls and a mean game of jacks.

In early years she attended Unity Baptist Church with the Youngblood family. One day her very close friend, Elisha Wilson-Bryant, brought her to Paradise Baptist Church where a very young and very shy C. Eugene McCarrell laid eyes on her. It was at Paradise Baptist Church in Oklahoma City OK, Roxie gave her life to Christ and was baptized by Rev. W.K. Arnold. Roxie became very active in many areas of the church. She taught the girls in "Act-Teens" class, she sang and lead songs in both the youth and mass choirs. Roxie was also the first winner of Juanita Arnold Oratorical Contest that was held each year by the East Zion District Association. Her commitment to Christ was no play thing. She was very active with the witnessing team led by Meldon Whitmore and McKinnley Brown. She also demonstrated this commitment of school with friends and classmates. Roxie enjoyed speaking and teaching, especially to young people.

On September 15, 1984, Roxie married C. Eugene McCarrell. To this union were born two children; Delillian Rachelle and Emmanuel Eugene.

Roxie's education: diploma from Capitol Hill High School, Associates degree from Redlands Community College in El Reno, OK, Bachelor's degree in Mathematics from Southwestern Oklahoma State University and a Masters in Science from Southern Nazarene University.

By 2006, sickness would cause her to resign from teaching at Carl Albert Middle School in Midwest City, OK, and medical issues would plague the rest of her life. However, you would never really know because she would always keep a smile on her face. Roxie met no strangers, she had a smile and some conversation for any one she met.

Preceding her in death was: her father, Charles W. Youngblood; her mother, Martha E. Youngblood; sister, Sherrill Humphrey; two brothers, Michael Youngblood and Mitchell Youngblood; nephew, Trevel Humphrey.

She leaves to cherish her memory: her husband, C. Eugene McCarrell; one daughter, Delillian Hoyt; one son, Emmanuel McCarrell; five brothers, Charles W. Youngblood, Wallace Youngblood, Marquett Youngblood, Robert Youngblood and James Youngblood; one sister, Marsha Youngblood; and a host of nieces, nephews and friends too numerous to name but yet not forgotten.
