Celebrating the Life of Vincent G. Price

Vincent Glenn Price was born May 1, 1960, in Chicago, Illinois to Gene A. Price Sr. and Helen Cannon.

Vincent graduated from William Horlick High School in 1978 and went on to serve in the United States Airforce, where he became a certified and licensed Jet Engine Mechanic. In 1976 Vincent welcomed his first daughter, Annette Smith. In 1982, while stationed in Oklahoma, Vincent married Beatrice Woody. The two of them raised three daughters, Audrie (Woody-Thompson), Joslynn (Gissendanner) and Cherrell Price. In 1985 he moved on from the United States Airforce and began leveraging his skills at Lockheed-Martin. Vincent eventually retired from Tinker Airforce Base in 2014 after a 29 year career as a Jet Engine Mechanic.

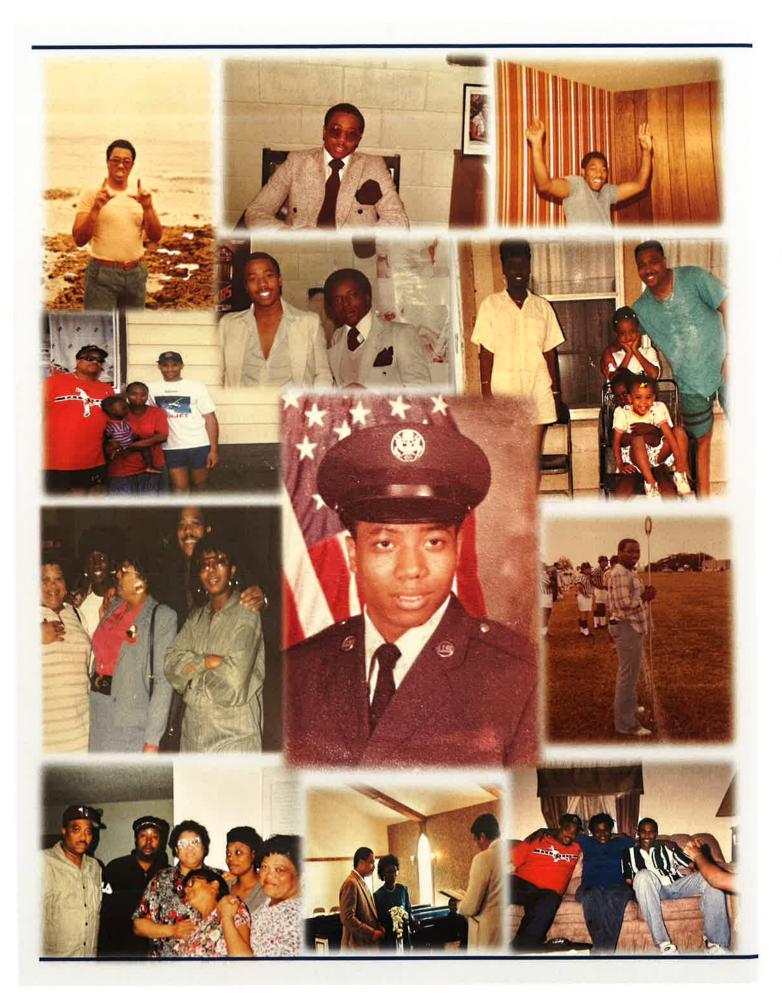

The highlight of Vincent's life was being a loving father to 4 daughters, and he supported each of them in their own endeavors. He enjoyed several passions at varying times in his life. He was a life-long lover of sports—from playing basketball & volleyball in high school, to becoming a boxing enthusiast, especially in following his brother, to cheering for the Green Bay Packers since he could remember.

Vincent uncovered a love for travel and trying new cuisines while traveling the world early on during his time in the Airforce. In his retirement, he would routinely watch the TV show, "Diners, Drive-Ins & Dives" and made it his mission to visit several featured restaurants as he continued to explore. Vincent also developed a liking to Sci-Fi movies and shows which began with the original Star Wars release in 1977...and tried his hardest not to miss a theater debut since.

Vincent also had a love for music. He transitioned from hosting parties with his DJ-roommate in his younger years, to having hip-hop singalongs with his daughters enroute to their sporting events. During holidays and family events, Vincent would open up his curio cabinet and sort through vinyl records, cassettes & CD's to set the backdrop for the stories that always brought laughter and the best memories.

He is predeceased by, and will reunite with, his father Gene Price Sr., his mother Helen Cannon; sisters, Bonnie Fleming and Joyce Gray; brother, Rev. Gene Price; grandson, Devin Robinson.

He leaves to cherish his memory Annette Smith (Racine, WI), Audrie (Gordon) Woody-Thompson (Washington, D.C.), Joslynn (Terrell) Gissendanner (Dallas, TX), and Cherrell Price (Atlanta, GA). Grandchildren, Javen Kostrzewa, Orlando Robinson Jr., Korinthian Smith, Keilen Hicks, and Aiden Thompson; siblings, Emma Gale Thomas, Jimmie Gray (Dallas, TX), Jackie Price (Racine, WI), Frank (Terry) Price (San Antonio, TX), Oliver "Deke" McCall (Chicago, IL). A host of nieces, nephews, and cousins.

Death is Nothing At All

Death is nothing at all.

It does not count.

I have only slipped away into the next room.

Nothing has happened.

Everything remains exactly as it was.

I am I, and you are you, and the old life that we lived so fondly together is untouched, unchanged.

Whatever we were to each other, that we are still

Call me by the old familiar name.

Speak of me in the easy way which you always used.

Put no difference into your tone.

Wear no forced air of solemnity or sorrow.

Laugh as we always laughed at the little jokes that we enjoyed together.

Play, smile, think of me, pray for me.

Let my name be ever the household word that it always was.

Let it be spoken without an effort, without the ghost of a shadow upon it.

Life means all that it ever meant.

It is the same as it ever was.

There is absolute and unbroken continuity.

What is this death but a negligible accident?

Why should I be out of mind because I am out of sight?

I am but waiting for you, for an interval,
somewhere very near,
just round the corner.

All is well.

Nothing is hurt; nothing is lost.

One brief moment and all will be as it was before.

How we shall laugh at the trouble of parting when we meet again!"
