HIS STORY

The eldest of six, William Amos Wilson, Jr. was born June 26, 1958 to William A. Wilson, Sr. and Sara Smith Wilson in Los Angeles, California. As a child he and his siblings spent much of their youth in church with their mother. Her dedication to service planted the seed of worship which not only led to his personal relationship at an early age but to his becoming an outreach minister in 2005.

William attended Monroe Jr. High and Morningside High School in Inglewood, California where he was a talented wrestler. He would later graduate from Star Spencer High School, after the family relocated to Oklahoma.

A multi-faceted man, William, he proudly served in the U.S. Army, worked for GM and spun his love for people & music, becoming “Dr. Funk and the Funkologist Jam Organization.” He later found his niche after attending The Devry Institute of Technology; the “Movie-Man” was born.

He used his life’s skills to help so many. Tech support, mechanic, DJ and handyman are just a few gifts he shared. His willingness to give, big heart, playful spirit and larger than life laugh will be forever missed.

He is preceded in death by his parents, and daughter, Angel.

He is survived by siblings; Roshel Wilson, Sterling Wilson, Sr., Carlos Wilson, Sr., Williard Hill, and Randy Campbell. His children: William A Wilson, III, Maria, Joshua, Joseph, Amos, Sara, Chauntrice, bonus daughters; Lishal, Tara and Jasmine, and 20 grandchildren. As well as Aunts, Cousins, Nieces, Nephews, extended Family & Friends.

Dad: you will always be in my heart. I will miss the laughter we shared and will forever cherish our conversations. I love you, rest now, you're home.

Sara
